The CPDD listserv is open to all CPDD members and is closed to non-members. CPDD maintains an open website, www.cpdd.org, for further information about CPDD and its activities. Upon acceptance and payment of CPDD membership, members are added to the CPDD listserv. Members who participate in the CPDD listserv may post items that they believe are relevant and/or of interest to other members. Any member can send messages to the listserv. Messages may contain information regarding job postings, funding opportunities, local/federal news of interest to members, etc. This listserv should not be used to self-promote authors or publications, or for any commercial or political use. The CPDD Executive Office approves all content posted to and membership of the listserv and reserves the right to reject any content deemed inappropriate or not within the guidelines listed in this policy. The CPDD Executive Office reserves the right to remove any member that does not abide by this policy. Any questionable content may also be sent to the CPDD Executive Committee for final approval. CPDD, from time to time, will also circulate information and activities about CPDD as well as other affiliated organizations.
